Organizational Coach Training

Welcome!

We value your company's success just as much as you do. We are here to train organizational leaders and employees in the highest caliber coaching competencies.

We have options to support a variety of training needs and are here to answer any questions you have along the way.

Below are the three steps to help you determine what your companies unique training needs are so that you can invest in your team's development with confidence.

STEP ONE: Assess

Every organization is unique and has differing needs. The first step is to evaluate who will benefit most from training. Which department, team or Executive Leaders are the priority and impact other team members? If there are many, which group is the highest priority to get training first?

- C-Suite, Executive / VP – Executives / VPs benefit from learning a coach-like leadership style.
- Leaders – Which of our leaders could be coaching managers into excellence?
- Managers – Which high-potential managers could benefit from learning how to coach employees into their solutions?
- Team Leads – What departments would benefit from team leads who could be coaching their team to excellence?

If you identified many positions that would benefit your organization, which is the highest priority?

STEP TWO: Review

Take a moment and review the program and training options on page three. Out of your highest priority positions, which program makes the most sense?

If you are unsure about step one or two, please contact us for a complimentary consultation. We will explore all options available to you. No obligation. We are here to help.

STEP THREE: Schedule

Once you have identified the key participants and the program that fits your organization best, we will begin the onboarding process. You will work directly with one of our dedicated Admissions Coaches.

If you would like support on the application process, or have questions, please email Lauren Stidham, Dean of Students: admin@integrativecoachtraining.com
